

Principal Contractor

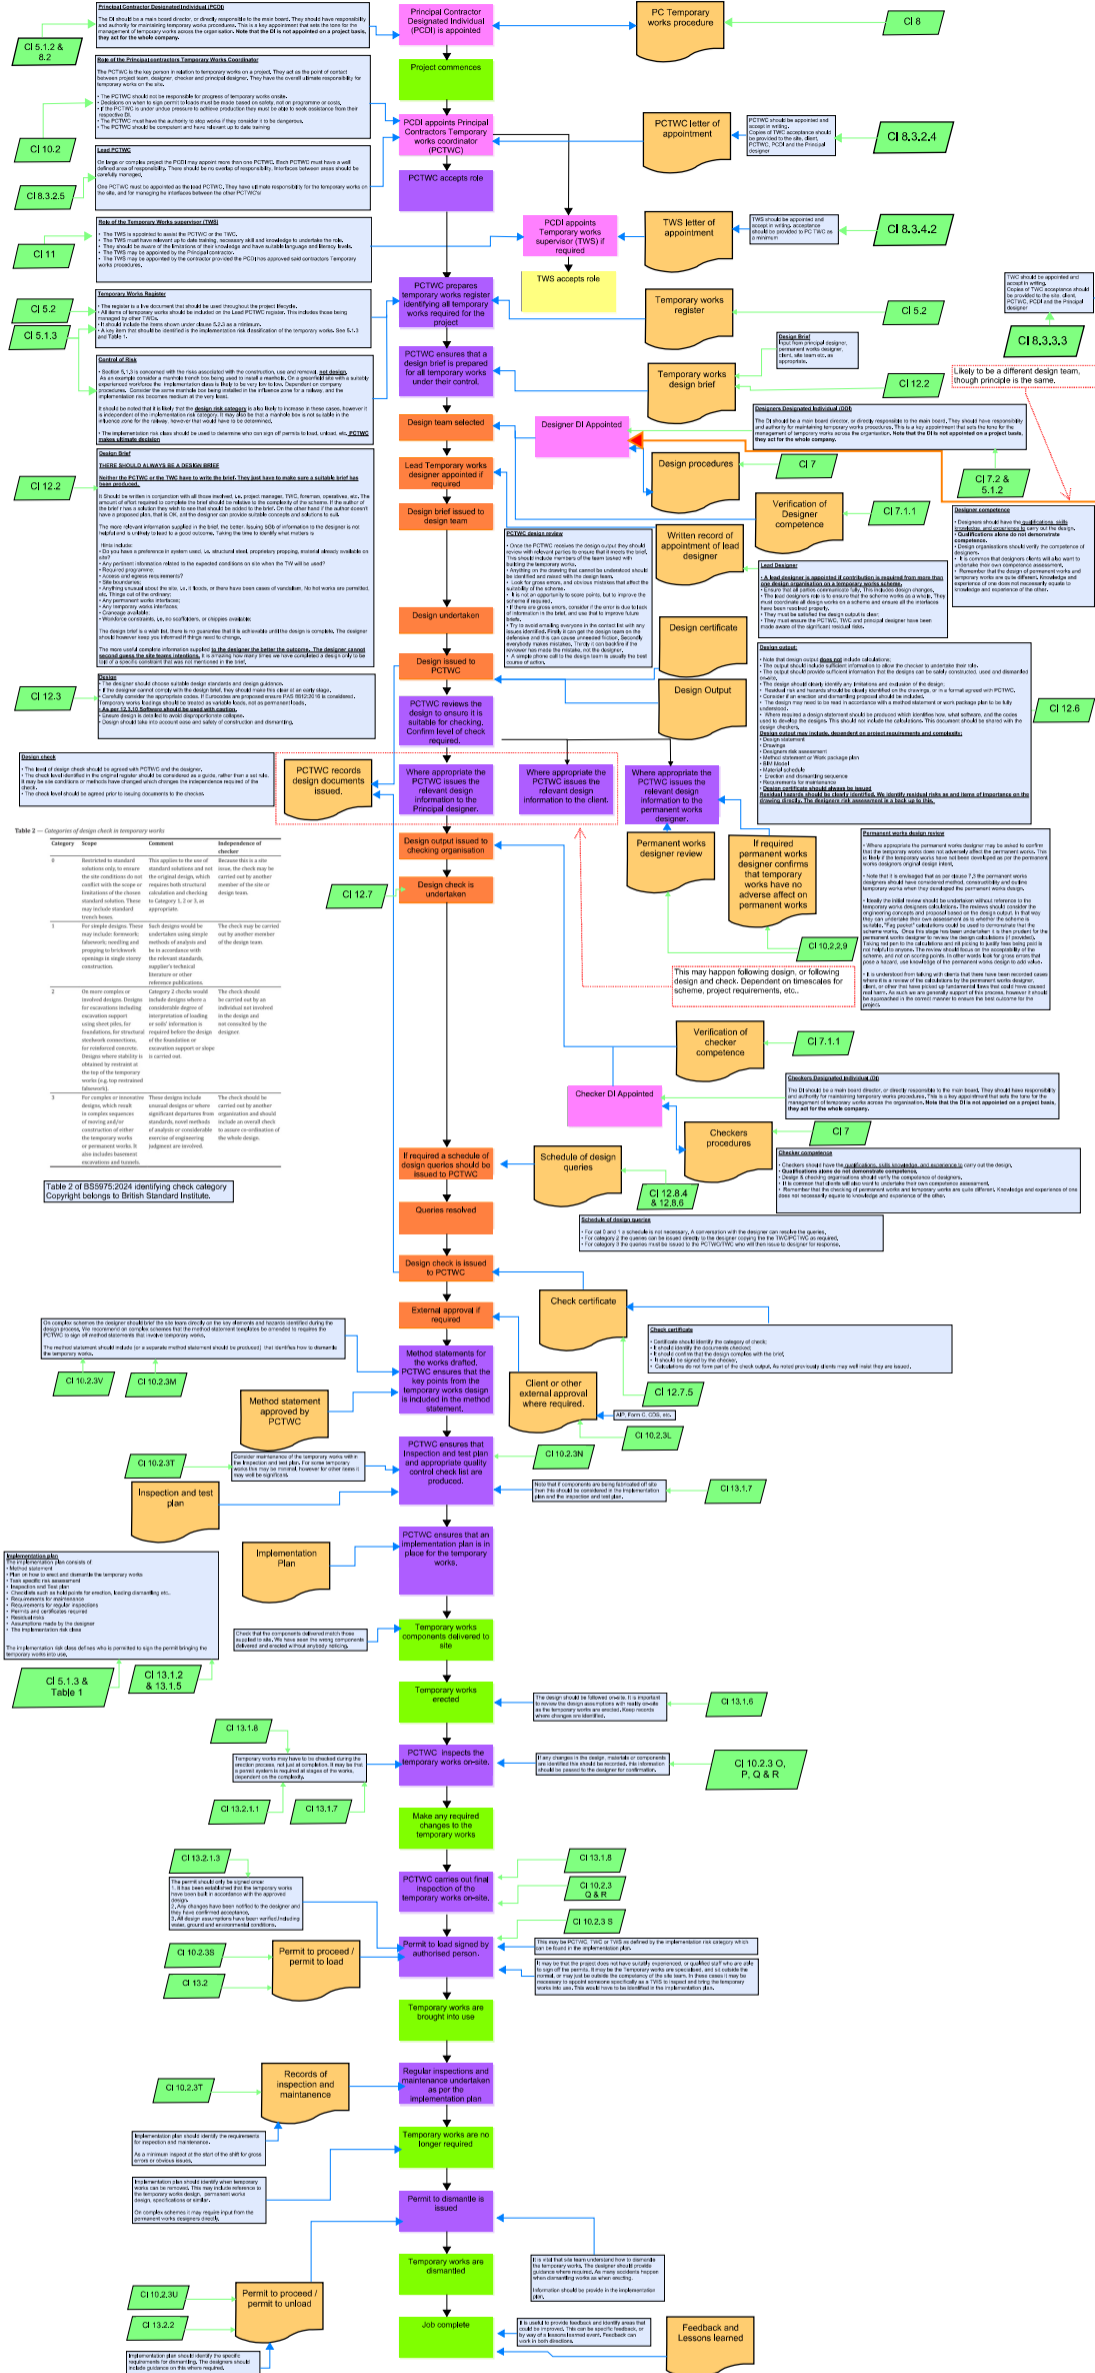

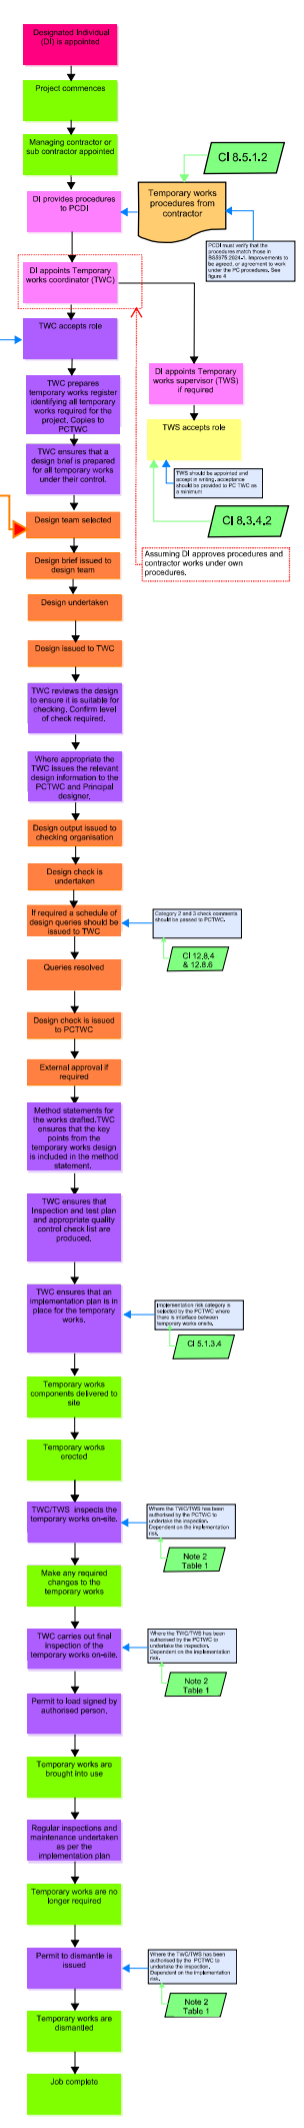

Table 2 - Categories of design check in temporary works

Category	Scope	Content	Independence of checker
1	Structural	Structural design checks should be undertaken by a suitably qualified person who is not directly involved in the design of the structure. The checker should be independent of the design team.	Independent of design team
2	Non-structural	Non-structural design checks should be undertaken by a suitably qualified person who is not directly involved in the design of the structure. The checker should be independent of the design team.	Independent of design team
3	Other	Other design checks should be undertaken by a suitably qualified person who is not directly involved in the design of the structure. The checker should be independent of the design team.	Independent of design team

Table 2 of BS5975:2024 identifying check category Copyright belongs to British Standards Institute

Managing Contractor or Sub Contractor

The information to the left is not repeated again here. Additional information is shown that is relevant to TWC and TWS role.

Note that where reference is made to an action by the PCTWC it does not mean they have to do the work personally. They may delegate their role as defined by their temporary works procedure, however they retain responsibility for the task. It may be the TWS, administrative assistant, or a TWC employed by another organisation undertakes the work.

